This course is open and welcoming to all majors. There are no prerequisites or lab (materials) fees.

ANT 2140 is a Humanities (H) and International (N) subject area course in the UF General Education Program.

Course Description: The global study of human culture from its origins to the present through the recovery, description, and analysis of archaeological remains.

This course explores the totality of human experience on earth, as known through archaeology, from the beginnings of humankind into the present. Course content is not organized chronologically or regionally, but thematically, focusing on how humans have made themselves and their worlds in the past and continue to do so today. It is an archaeological contribution to the anthropological question, “What makes us human?” An anthropological archaeology can inform us of where we come from, how we got to where we are today, and where we might be going in the future.

Case studies from around the world and all time periods are drawn upon to illuminate the diversity of past human experiences and explain the archaeological methods and techniques used to gain that knowledge. Through global comparison these case studies shed light on the diversity of world areas and commonalities in the human past. Archaeological investigation and dissemination of knowledge is also relevant to contemporary issues on a global scale, including indigenous rights, collective identities, heritage preservation, conservation biology, agricultural development, built environments, responses to climate change, and sustainability.

Following introductory lectures on the history of archaeology and archaeological methods, the first part of the course explores the early human dispersal out of Africa to populate the globe, key characteristics of pre-industrial technologies, the diversity of livelihoods and subsistence practices that emerged in the pre-industrial era, and how humans have created physical worlds to live in. Major changes in technology and society through time are examined. The second part considers topics in contemporary archaeology with case studies from around the world: how people create meaningful worlds, how they have faced environmental challenges, how people make themselves and their societies, and how people have moved themselves through migration, and also moved things. The final topic is archaeology of the present and for the future. These topics are coordinated with discipline-wide “Grand Challenges for Archaeology,” introduced in Module 1.

Special emphasis is given to UNESCO World Cultural Heritage (WCH) sites, and more generally issues relating to the role of archaeology in maintaining cultural heritage. WCH sites are highlighted in the lectures, each identified with a blue logo, and a midterm project is devoted to researching one of these sites of your choice.

General Education Objectives and Learning Outcomes:

“Humanities (H) courses provide instruction in the history, key themes, principles, terminology, and theory or methodologies used within a humanities discipline or the humanities in general. Students will learn to identify and to analyze the key elements, biases and influences that shape thought. These courses emphasize clear and effective analysis and approach issues and problems from multiple perspectives.”

“International (N) courses promote the development of students’ global and intercultural awareness. Students examine the cultural, economic, geographic, historical, political, and/or social experiences and processes that characterize the contemporary world, and thereby comprehend the trends, challenges, and opportunities that affect communities around the world. Students analyze and reflect on the ways in which cultural, economic, political, and/or social systems and beliefs mediate their own and other people’s understanding of an increasingly connected world.” A majority of the course content addresses international issues and engagement. As this is a course on world archaeology, the international content is a substantial and defining feature.

Content Objectives

H: Identify, describe, and explain the history, underlying theory and methodologies used.

N: Identify, describe, and explain the historical, cultural, economic, political, and/or social experiences and processes that characterize the contemporary world.

Student Learning Outcomes for Content Objectives: By the end of this course students will be able to:

1. Identify significant turning points in the history of archaeology as a humanities discipline, beginning with its origins in Renaissance antiquarianism and the emergence of a “past” as different from the present, into the 21st century.
2. Define themes, fundamental principles, and basic terminology and methods essential to the discipline of archaeology.
3. Recognize the diversity of experiences, formations, adaptations, and histories of human societies since the beginning of humankind on a global scale.
4. Identify major changes in culture and technology in human history and explain their material and historical impacts and legacies into the present, especially those that have resulted in cross-cultural commonalities and differences.
5. Explain how cultural heritage is an important resource and source of identity among virtually all peoples at the national, subnational, ethnic, and local levels.
6. Identify ongoing threats to global tangible and intangible heritage and the challenges of its preservation.
7. Recognize that the contemporary world results from a long history of separate developments and interdependencies, of continuities, connections, and transformations, many of which are still in process.

Critical Thinking Objectives

H: Identify and analyze key elements, biases and influences that shape thought within the subject area. Approach issues and problems within the discipline from multiple perspectives.

N: Analyze and reflect on the ways in which cultural, economic, political, and/or social systems and beliefs mediate understandings of an increasingly connected contemporary world.

Student Learning Outcomes for Critical Thinking Objectives: By the end of this course students will be able to:

1. Apply diverse concepts, methods, and techniques to analyze archaeological remains, both immobile (e.g., structures, wall art) and portable (artifacts).
2. Identify and analyze recurrent Modernist and Western influences and biases that shape how the past is represented or misrepresented in contemporary media.
3. While accepting the legitimacy of plural perspectives on the past, discriminate more plausible interpretations and explanations of past phenomena that contribute to accumulated knowledge using evidence-based procedures, and correspondingly, identify interpretations that are less plausible.
4. Justify that “the past” is produced in the present and is subject to change as knowledge, methods, and attitudes change.

5. Explain how archaeological approaches to studying the human past are relevant to understanding the present and future in a diverse and dynamic global context.
6. Analyze and reflect on the multifaceted ethical considerations of ongoing international debates regarding “who owns the past.”

Communication Objectives

H and N: Communicate knowledge, thoughts, and reasoning clearly and effectively.

Student Learning Outcomes for Communication Objectives: By the end of this course students will be able to:

1. Utilize correct and appropriate archaeological terminology and concepts in reaching reasoned conclusions in written assignments and oral class discussion.
2. Employ comparative arguments effectively in explaining cross-cultural or historical similarities and differences from the case studies.

International Scholars Program - This course is also eligible for the International Scholars Program, which has its own Student Learning Objectives. By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Consistently recognize and effectively utilize important and relevant terminology regarding intercultural and global issues in the appropriate environmental context (terminology).
- Effectively and consistently make logical and informed judgements when encountering diverse intercultural and global situations (judgment, critical thinking).
- Effectively and consistently express and foster openness to other cultural views, differences, and opinions (communication, acceptance of others)

Career Preparation: This course provides certain career skills. Include these in your résumé when job-seeking: critical thinking, problem-solving, communication, collaboration, digital fluency, and cross-cultural appreciation.

Syllabus Requirement: Since a thorough understanding of the course requirements is critical for successful completion of the class, there will be an ungraded quiz during the first few days after the course opens that confirms your understanding of the syllabus, course requirements, and required tools and technologies. You may take the quiz as many times as needed, but you must answer every question correctly to pass it and thereby open the first module containing readings and assignments. Take this quiz as soon as possible.

Work Load, Expectations, and Deadlines: Although students in the on-campus sections are in class four 50-minute periods a week and may have different reading, video, lab, and written assignments, online students cover equivalent material, have the same student learning objectives, and are expected to devote the same amount of time to the course. Pay close attention to deadlines for assignments, including quizzes, because the Canvas portals close and many assignments will not be accepted late. Large projects lose point value for every day late. Exceptions are for documented University-approved absences (e.g., illness, religious exemption).

Late Adds and Non-Attendance: This course formally begins with the first day of classes. According to University Policy, “Absences begin with the first class meeting,” and “If a student does not participate in at least one of the first two class meetings of a course or laboratory in which they are registered, and they have not contacted the department to indicate their intent, the student can be dropped from the course.” The University does not require instructors to modify deadlines on an individual basis depending on when a student adds the class after the first day, even within the add/drop period. If you begin the course after the first day of classes, it is up to you to meet the deadlines or accept the consequences.

Content: Content consists of three components--lectures, readings, and videos--and is delivered 100% online on Canvas. It is organized by modules, with one module per week of the semester.

- Delivery of lectures as ppt videos: We recommend you watch each lecture video twice. View them first, before the other content, to get the gist of the ideas and information presented. Look at the list of Student Learning Objectives and Key Words for each module. The second time you listen to the lecture, pause to take notes on those learning objectives and definitions of key words, as well as the other major ideas. You will be able to watch the lectures as many times as you want. There are written transcripts for each one. Prepare your lecture notes to quickly access the information as a study guide for the quizzes.

- Readings:
  - Readings are drawn first from a short textbook –Archaeology: A Very Short Introduction, by Paul Bahn (2012 Oxford University Press). It is written for the general public and available as an e-book.
  - Many other readings come from journal articles (some online), book chapters presented as pdfs on Canvas, essays written specifically for this course, and webpages. You are responsible for the content—the major ideas or findings—from each of these types of required readings. Read the introduction and conclusion most carefully for each reading and write down the major ideas as a study guide for the quizzes.
- Videos: Videos on YouTube or other platforms are also assigned content. They take the place of readings in some cases or provide supplementary information on archaeological sites or methods to further illustrate lectures. Some are interviews with international archaeologists, or TED talks by international scholars. You are responsible for the major ideas or findings from each required video.

Accessing E-Journals: Some of the reading assignments are from online journals. To get off-campus access to these and other UF Library electronic materials (e-books, databases, course reserves), you must use the UF VPN client. The VPN (virtual provider network) client is easily installed. For more information on using the VPN client, go to <https://it.ufl.edu/ict/documentation/network-infrastructure/vpn/>

Keeping the Content Up-to-Date: Especially with so many internet resources, links can quickly break and videos taken offline. To help the instructors keep up with these changes, 1 point of extra credit is awarded to the first person who informs them that a link is broken. In addition, 1 point of extra credit is awarded to the first person to report a grammatical, spelling, or formatting mistake on a practice or graded quiz.

Assessment of Course Learning Objectives: There are graded assignments due for every module. Please keep up with the module assignments. There is also one mid-semester and two semester-long E-Projects.

- |   |           |
|---|-----------|
| • 1 short get-acquainted discussion post                    | 5 points  |
| • 1 graded Module Quiz (10 points)                          | 10        |
| • 13 graded Module Quizzes (20 points each)                 | 260       |
| • 12 module labs or discussion assignments (10 points each) | 120       |
| • midterm World Heritage Project (2 parts)                  | 35        |
| • E-map final submission                                    | 35        |
| • E-timeline final submission                               | 35 |

TOTAL 500 points

Quizzes: Each module includes a graded quiz consisting of multiple-choice questions that covers the content in the lectures, assigned readings, discussion assignments, and assigned videos. Module 1 has less content than the other modules, so the first quiz has only 10 questions at 1 point each. Each of the remaining 13 module quizzes will have 20 questions worth 1 point each. Quizzes focus on the major ideas, methods, important terminology (see list of key words on the module page), and findings, not isolated facts. Questions are drawn randomly for each student from a large quiz bank. Use the module student learning objectives and key words as a study guide and utilize the practice (ungraded) quizzes to make sure you know the material. In the past the most missed questions tend to come from the readings and videos, so be sure to give them sufficient attention.

Module 1 has a short video lecture, “Testing . . . 1-2-3,” that explains how to prepare for and take the quizzes. It is highly recommended. It also tells you how Canvas scores your quizzes and test-taking strategies.

- Taking the quiz: You will have a 24-hour window to take the quizzes. Most quizzes will open Monday at 12:01 am and close the same day at 11:59 pm. Due to the King holiday the Module 1 quiz will open instead on Tuesday at 12:01 am and close the same day at 11:59 pm. If you cannot take the quiz on Monday, you should not be in this class. You have 20 minutes to complete the Module 1 quiz from the time you open it, and 30 minutes for all other quizzes. This is time-and-a-half for all students. You are allowed only one attempt to complete a quiz. You may not access outside help of any kind to answer the quiz, including sharing questions or answers; however, you are allowed to use your own study aids as a measure of your mastery of module content. Correct answers are not shown until after the quiz closes.

Written Assignments: There are three kinds of written assignments: 1) labs; 2) discussion boards; and 3) the UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Project. All are to be uploaded to Canvas by 11:59 pm on the specified due date (see schedule below). Late assignments are accepted only with University-approved excused absences.

- Format: If an essay is called for, write it in MS Word (.doc/docx) or convert it to MS Word before uploading it to Canvas, to utilize spell- and grammar-check. Put your name in the top corner and provide a title. Some assignments require a specific title. Submit your word files only as .doc/docx or pdf!
- Rubric: Assignments have attached rubrics which you should consult before submission to make sure you have met all the criteria. Spelling and grammar count as part of your grade. Proofread carefully and run the spell check tool in your word processing program. Assignments are submitted through Turnitin and will be checked for plagiarism. All students are held to the UF Honor Code (see below).
- Lab Assignments require an analysis of some data, for which you will answer questions on a worksheet and then upload your responses. Labs are part of your training in fundamental concepts and methods.
- E-Map: The second lab assignment is to create a digital map of the globe, using free software, on which you will locate archaeological sites or regions presented in each module. Although you will turn in your initial map for the second lab assignment, you are to continue adding sites to the same map throughout the semester and submit it as the final map at the end. It provides a spatial and geographical orientation of important world archaeological sites, and can help you in studying for quizzes.
- E-Timeline: The third lab assignment is to create a digital timeline using free software on which you will locate important events or time periods. Although you will turn in the timeline for your lab assignment, you will continue to add events and periods throughout the semester and submit the final timeline at the end. The timeline will provide a personalized chronological overview of world archaeology.
- Discussion Boards are usually in two parts. The first involves an original response/report on an assigned topic that you researched. The second part asks for your replies to two other student response posts in your discussion group. Discussion Board original responses will close on Thursdays at 11:59 pm, while your replies will close on Saturdays at 11:59 pm. NOTE: you cannot respond to another student's post until you upload your original post, so it is in your own interest to upload your posts ASAP.
- World Cultural Heritage Project: This is a separate midterm project for which you will select and research a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Archaeological Project and report on it in two parts: 1) justify your selection of a site, and 2) provide certain information about it in the form of a Powerpoint presentation. Specific instructions are provided to complete the project. Students in the International Scholars Program must choose an international (not US) world cultural heritage archaeological site. NOTE: The three digital projects will become part of your student e-Portfolio.

E-Portfolio: Each student can create an individualized e-Portfolio, which archives electronic products (“artifacts”) you create in your various classes. Canvas has an option called Portfolio that allows you to create an e-Portfolio external to Canvas, as part of a network you can share and use after graduation. In Canvas go to your “Account > Folio” to create your e-Portfolio and learn how to import your projects into it.

Canvas Notifications: In your Canvas “Account,” click on “Notifications.” Set the notification for “Submission Comment” to either “Notify Immediately” or “Daily Summary.” The instructors communicate with you regarding your assignments through Submission Comments more so than e-mail. We expect every student to read their submission comments within 24 hours. Many of them may require immediate action on your part.

UF Grading policy and Course Grading Components: Click here for information on current UF grading policies for assigning grade points.

- Every graded activity in this course earns points. Only the grade components listed above are used to determine your grade. Letter grades are based on a total of 500 points; see grading scale below.

Important: A minimum grade of C (350 points or higher; GPA of 2.0) is required for general education credit; C- does not fulfill that requirement. GPA points for each letter grade are provided in the bottom line of the chart.

Grade	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	C-	D+	D	D-	E
Pts	450-500	440-449	425-439	400-424	390-399	375-389	350-374	340-349	325-339	300-324	290-299	<290
Min %	90%	88%	85%	80%	78%	75%	70%	68%	65%	60%	58%	<58%
GPA	4.00	3.67	3.33	3.00	2.67	2.33	2.00	1.67	1.33	1.00	0.67	0.00

Response/Feedback Policy: If you have questions that are not answered in the syllabus or the course’s Q/A board, or about your own performance in the class, you should contact the instructors. Responses are usually provided within 48 hours. Questions that are answered on the syllabus or discussion board will not be answered again – you will be directed to those resources. For graded assignments, expect a grade with feedback within 72 hours after a lab or discussion assignment is due. The E-Map, E-Timeline and UNESCO project will take longer to read, provide individual feedback, and assign a grade.

Should you take an Online Course? If you are not well disciplined or don’t have good time management skills, you may quickly fall behind in this course and be unable to catch up. This course is not self-paced. Quizzes and assignments are due at set times, and late assignments are not accepted without justification. If you are unwilling or unable to consistently schedule a certain number of hours each week to watch the lectures twice, do the readings, watch the videos, take notes, study your notes for the quiz, take the quiz on a Monday, and fulfill the assignments, you should not be in this class. Late work is accepted only with University-approved excuses.

Tips for Success:

- Regularly schedule weekly “class times” for this course as if it were in a traditional classroom.
- Read the helpful information provided on Canvas.
- Print the Course Schedule located at the end of this Syllabus and check things off as you go.
- Ask instructors for help or clarification of the material right away. Don’t wait till it’s too late.
- Do your work well before the due dates. If your computer goes down when you are trying to submit an assignment or take a quiz, you will need time to get to another machine. Computer problems are not acceptable excuses for a late or incomplete assignment.
- Read all the assignment instructions carefully! Failure to follow instructions contributes to loss of points.
- Back up all your work to an external drive or the cloud.

Minimum Technology Requirements: The University of Florida expects students entering an online program to acquire computer hardware and software appropriate to his or her degree program. Most computers are capable of meeting the following general requirements. A student's computer configuration should include a webcam and microphone for Zoom conferences, broadband connection to the Internet and related equipment (Cable/DSL modem), and Microsoft Office Suite (provided by the university). Access to a printer and Scanner are expected.

Minimum Technical Skills: You will need a basic understanding of how to operate a computer, how to use standard word processing and powerpoint software, and how to use the internet and online library resources.

Materials/Supply Fees: There is no materials/supply fee for this course.

Honorlock is not used during this course. No single graded quiz exceeds 15% of the final grade.

Zoom: Zoom is an easy to use video conferencing service available to all UF students and faculty. You can find resources and help using Zoom at <https://ufl.zoom.us>. It is used only for office hours.

Technical Help on Canvas: If you experience technical difficulties, contact the UF Computing Help Desk either by filling out an online request form or calling (352) 392-4357 - option 1. The Help Desk is located on the ground floor of the Hub on the UF campus. If your technical difficulties will cause you to miss a due date, you MUST report the problem to the Help Desk and then email the instructor. Include the ticket number that you are given from the Help Desk in an e-mail to the instructor to explain the late assignment or quiz. However, except in extreme circumstances, technical difficulties are not an excused reason for a late assignment.

Complaints: Any complaints with your technical experience in this course should be directed to the Distance Learning website. See information on Canvas for direct links, or item #7 below.

In this class, students are encouraged to employ critical thinking and to rely on data and verifiable sources to interrogate all assigned readings, lecture material, and other subject matter presented in this course, or beyond the course, as a way of determining whether they agree with their classmates, their instructor, and the authors of those readings. No lesson is intended to espouse, promote, advance, inculcate, or compel a particular feeling, perception, viewpoint or belief.

The following information is provided in conformance with University Policy: Please Read

1. Policy related to class attendance, make-up exams, and other work

Requirements for class attendance, make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course (e.g., excused absences) are consistent with University Policy (and see above on late adds): "Acceptable reasons for absence from or failure to participate in class include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements Title IX-related situations; serious accidents or emergencies affecting the student, their roommates, or their family; special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences); military obligation; severe weather conditions that prevent class participation; religious holidays; participation in official university activities (e.g., music performances, athletic competition, debate); and court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena). Other reasons (e.g., a job interview or club activity) may be deemed acceptable if approved by the instructor (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences), military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays, and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition, or debate. The university recognizes the right of the individual professor to make attendance mandatory. After due warning, professors can prohibit further attendance and subsequently assign a failing grade for excessive absences." The UF Twelve-Day Rule states that students who participate in athletic or scholastic teams are permitted to be absent 12 scholastic (regular class) days per semester without penalty. Students seeking this exemption must provide documentation to the instructor. It is the student athlete's responsibility to maintain satisfactory academic performance and attendance.

2. Religious observances

Students seeking modification of due dates for class participation, assignments, and exams for religious reasons should contact the instructor well in advance to request this modification.

3. Accommodations for students with disabilities

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565). It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester. Do not simply assume that the instructor has the letter. Students should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester. No accommodations will be granted until after the letter is received; they are not retroactive.

4. Academic honesty

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Conduct Honor Code specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Instances of dishonesty include conducting unauthorized research on the internet and failing to cite sources of information on any work submitted, as well as unauthorized collaborating with students or others to determine the answers on assignments and exams. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. All suspected instances of violations of the Conduct Honor Code (plagiarism, copying, cheating) will be reported to the Dean of Students Office. Students who have not committed any prior violations will be sanctioned by the instructor; the usual penalty is a loss of all credit for the plagiarized assignment, or a grade of 0 on an exam. Students with prior violations will be sanctioned according to the Honor Code Resolution Process. If you are accused of academic dishonesty, you are not allowed to drop the course until the matter is resolved. DO NOT CHEAT—the penalties are too severe. If you have any questions about what constitutes cheating or plagiarism, or have concerns about completing an assignment on time, please consult with the instructor.

5. In-Class Recording

Because this is a 100% asynchronous online course, the regulations regarding recording of class lectures are not relevant.

6. Campus Resources: Counseling, Medical, Academic, and Financial Services

Canvas now has a listing of all Campus Resources. Look for the item on the left-hand menu.

7. Online course evaluation process

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course. These evaluations are conducted online at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via ufl.bluera.com/ufl/. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/

8. Electronic Course Reserves and accessing Online Library Journals

The electronic course reserve service is offered by the George A. Smathers Libraries. Under the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, students with disabilities have the right to equal access, use and benefit of the course materials that have been placed on reserve in the Libraries.

Students who have registered with the Disability Resource Center should initiate their request for assistance and accommodation in accessing these materials. The Center will work with the Libraries Course Reserve Unit to provide accessible course materials. All information submitted by the student to the Libraries in fulfilling the request for accommodation will be kept confidential. For more information on services for students with disabilities, contact the DRC at 352-392-8565. For general information on course reserves, please contact the Course Reserves Unit at 352-273-2520, or email at eres@uflib.ufl.edu.
