Course Description

Drawing on the disciplines that make up the Humanities and the considerable resources at UF in support of the Humanities, this course investigates the very nature and experience of being human. Applying multi-disciplinary and cross-cultural approaches to explore what is a good life, students consider the cost of the good life, examine how people have chosen to live as members of local and global communities, and analyze conceptions and expressions of beauty, power, love, and health.

Part 1 (Individual) and Part 2 (Society) of the course consist of “gateway” works, which are common to all sections regardless of instructor, and “pillar” works, which the individual instructors assign to their own sections. Faculty select pillars to complement the gateways while also drawing on their own areas of interest and expertise. For Part 3 (Special Topic), students explore in depth a special topic, designed by their instructor. The Special Topic provides a synthesis of the materials covered in Parts 1 and 2. For Part 4 (This I Believe), students reflect on what they have learned in a short audio essay.

Course Objectives

Students are provided instruction in multi-disciplinary approaches used in the humanities to study the good life through an analysis of juxtaposed works of art, architecture, history, literature, music, religion, and philosophy.

- Content Objectives: Students will identify how different people from different societies across time conceptualize the good life, what meaning and value individuals ascribe to the lives that they live or want to live, and what are the choices, costs, and benefits of the good life.
- Communication Objectives: Students will communicate concepts, expressions, and representations of the good life clearly and effectively in written and oral form as stated in the rubrics of the course.
- Critical Thinking Objectives: Students will analyze the conflicts and tensions that arise between the individual and the community, the normative and the exceptional, culture and nature, needs and wants, pleasure and happiness, short-term benefits and long-term consequences of the pursuit of the good life. They will critically evaluate the costs and benefits of the good life in order to make sound decisions.

Course Format

Sections meet once per week for a lecture by the head instructor and once per week for a classroom discussion led by a TA. The third contact hour is an asynchronous, online discussion in Canvas.

Common Activities

This course expects students to become actively engaged in experiences unique to UF. Students will participate in some of the following Common Activities: The Good Life Performance, the Good Life Nature Activity at the Florida Museum of Natural History, and/or the Good Life exhibit at the Harn Museum of Art. More information about these activities can be found on the course's Canvas page.

The University Humanities & General Education Requirements

IUF 1000 fulfills the UF Core requirement and 3 credits of the Humanities General Education Requirement.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Please do not hesitate to ask for accommodation for a documented disability. Students requesting accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office: <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc>. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student, who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting accommodation. Please ask the instructor if you would like any assistance in this process.

Students in Distress

Your well-being is important to the University of Florida.  - In the case of an absence due to participation in an official university activity, observance of a religious holiday, performance of a military duty, or any other university-approved absence (e.g., jury duty) which the student knows about in advance, the student is expected to notify the instructor of the conflict before the assignment is due, and if possible at the start of the semester.
 - If a student does not hand in the Analytical Essay on time and an extension has not been granted, there is 15-point deduction for missing the deadline and a 30-point deduction for every day that passes before the paper is submitted.

3. Grading Policy: If you have questions about your grade on an assignment, please make an appointment to meet with your TA within a week after the assignment has been returned so your TA can explain how you were graded. If after meeting with your TA, you wish to dispute your grade, you may email your instructor to request that the instructor re-grade the assignment. The instructor will then re-grade the assignment and the second grade will stand, regardless of whether it is higher or lower than the original grade. You may request re-grading or dispute a grade up to one week after the assignment has been returned to you or the grade released.
